Master land use plan is about finished

CANTON—The township's new land use plan is almost complete.

That's the word from Supervisor Robert Greenstein, who hopes a public hearing will be scheduled by the end of August.

Township planner Michael Manore and members of the township board of trustees and planning commission have met several times to discuss the proposed plan and now agree on most zoning changes, Greenstein said.

USE OF about four per cent of the township's land is still undetermined.

Most of that land is composed of small parcels, scattered throughout the township, which form transition areas between different land use areas.

"I believe we're very close to complete agreement on all the large items," said Greenstein. "Every section taken by itself is easy, until you try to put the whole plan together."

Greenstein noted several areas of comparison between the proposed land use plan and a plan proposed last fall by a previous township board and administration. The township's current land use plan, adopted in 1967, is too "outdated" for comparison purposes, he said.

Although the supervisor declined to disclose details of the proposed plan, he said "substantial" acreage will be laid aside for agricultural purposes.

The proposed plan dedicates 28 per cent of the township's total land area to agriculture, while the plan proposed last fall did not zone any land for farming use.

Under the proposed plan, about eight per cent of the township's total land area is zoned agricultural residential on minimum five-acre lots. No land was zoned for that use under last fall's plan.

"That is perhaps the most significant change," Greenstein said. "The old plan ignored it completely. The only thing I can think of that this township can never regain is land."

UNDER THE plan proposed last fall, more than 55 per cent of the township's total land area was zoned for single family residential use with 2½ to five houses per acre.

The proposed plan limits the amount of land used for that purpose to 27 per cent.

Less land (almost five per cent) is zoned multiple residential than under the plan proposed last fall, when more than seven per cent of the township's total land was designated for that use.

Both plans zone about the same percentage of land for commercial and industrial uses.

Greenstein declined to disclose proposed zoning changes of specific segments of land, pending completion of the total proposed plan. Manore and members of the township board and planning commission will meet in two weeks to air any criticisms they may hold of the plan.

"We dare not release any zoning changes right now," the supervisor said. "Someone with a lot of money could go in and make a killing. That wouldn't be right."

While the township board and planning commission worked on the proposed master land use plan, the township administration worked on new ordinances which would supplement the zoning changes, Greenstein said.

One of those ordinances, already written and OK'd by township attorneys, offers a "substantial" tax break to the farmer, the supervisor said.

BICYCLES ARE a prime target for thieves and with the summer months upon us, more bikes are available. Police Chief Tim Ford urges bike owners to make it as tough as possible for someone to walk off with theirs. Whenever a person is off his bike, it should be locked, whether it's on the front porch or in Kellogg Park, the chief said. (Staff photo)

Local census shows rapid rise in Canton population

By DARLENE STINSON

CANTON—Township officials are eyeing the result of Canton's recently-completed census and counting the benefits the new head count may reap.

Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein said census enumerators have now canvassed the entire township. The attitudes and occupancy numbers of all but 47 households, whose occupants were not at home when census takers called, are now ready for computer tabulation.

TENTATIVE census figures, which township enumerators counted by hand, show an approximate 136 per cent increase in population over the year 1970.

About 11,000 persons lived in Canton when the 1970 census was conducted. The 1975 census tentatively shows a population of 26,012.

Census reports must run through a computer for tabulation and receive certification from the Michigan Secretary of State office before any number becomes Canton's official population count.

Township officials are hoping to hear word from unrecorded residents of 47 households before sending the census results to the computer and Secretary of State office, according to Greenstein.

RESIDENTS OF some of the unrecorded households refused to cooperate with census takers, the supervisor said.

Residents of other households were not at home each of the six times census takers called during day and evening hours and on weekends. Enumerators left mail-in census forms for those residents.

"If nothing, they should give us their names and ages," said Greenstein. "This census may be the foundation for next year's state revenue disbursement. That would help everyone in the township."

A bill now in the Legislature would allocate state funds to local units of government according to local mid-decade census tallies. Current state law bases allocations on decennial censuses— like the one conducted in 1970.

Under current state law, Canton will gain additional liquor licenses because of the population count shown in the 1975 census. Liquor licenses are allocated on a population basis.

TOWNSHIP residents were asked to fill out two census questionnaires.

One requested names and addresses. The other asked residents to supply personal information and attitudes toward a myriad of issues, including schools, recreation, transportation, police protection and land use.

"On the basis of this survey, we can go ahead and do certain things without hesitation," Greenstein said. "We'll know which direction we should be heading. I for one will bind myself to the results."

Cost of sending the entire census through the computer is pegged at about $4,000, Greenstein estimates. To cut financial corners, township officials may temporarily withhold some questions from the computer tape. Head count figures and attitudinal questions will be sent through.

"I would insist on the attitudinal questions going through," said Greenstein. "There's no way questions about the expenditure of money won't be sent through, if I have to pay for it myself."

Cost of conducting the census is pegged at $7,878. Federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds financed all but $337 of the cost.

"It was probably the most inexpensive census to taxpayers ever conducted on a local level," the supervisor said.

"We're exceedingly pleased with how the census has been handled and the results. Bruce Phillips the township's ordinance officer and chief census enumerator did a fantastic job. He was able to do the job as well as regular ordinance duties."

Summer's here: protect your bike against theft

The long months of summer are here once again, and with them come the pleasures, dangers and theft hazards of biking.

Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford says rounds of bicycle thefts occur every year when school lets out. Carelessness on the part of bicycle owners is a main cause of bicycle thefts.

"WE'D LIKE to develop an awareness on the part of parents and young people as to what they can do to 'harden the target' or make it tough to steal," the chief said.

"If a person's looking for something to steal, he's going to steal it. But you should make the target as inconvenient for him as possible."

The most obvious— and most neglected— way to deter a theft is the securing of a bicycle to a permanent or heavy impermanent object.

"The idea is to make a theft as time consuming and inconvenient as possible. Whenever you're off your bike, you should lock it—whether it's on your front porch, in Kellogg Park or wherever.

"You go up town though, and I bet you wouldn't find 20 per cent of the bikes locked. That's just inviting a target."

Ford says good bicycle lock and chain combinations are available in local stores.

Combination locks are the best, he maintains, because they do not require an easily-lost key. The best chains, he says, are the cable variety wrapped in plastic, because a cable or bolt cutter is needed to break them. The plastic prevents scratching of the bicycle.

"I'm of the opinion that a lightweight chain is not much of a deterrent. It's more of a deterrent than no chain at all, but I don't know how much."

THE CHAIN should be wrapped around both wheels and to a permanent or heavy impermanent object. If the bicycle is parked in an open area, both wheels should be immobilized with the chain.

But even the most cautious bicycle owner and the most expensive lock and chain on the market cannot prevent a bicycle theft.

"There isn't any lock or device made that prevents people from stealing. These devices only delay and deter a thief by their existence. It's like a car parked on the street. A policeman with any experience could get into one in 20 seconds."

Ford urges persons to register their bicycles with the Plymouth Police Department to enable police to return stolen bicycles to their rightful owners.

The licensing service is available to residents of the City of Plymouth and Canton, Plymouth and Northville townships. The one-time registration fee is $1, and persons are charged 50 cents to transfer the license to a different owner.

"I would expect bicycle thefts would be less this year. There seemed to be more care exhibited this spring than I saw at the same time last year. But we begin to experience bike thefts in quantity about the time the young people are on the streets heavily. This coincides with school letting out.

"I think this is a crime of youth with the exception of a couple organized gangs we've encountered," Ford said. "The motive is profit."

BICYCLISTS SHOULD also display caution in safety areas, Ford warns. Parents should make sure their children know how to safely operate multi-speed bikes, which can be more dangerous than motorcycles.

"The purpose of a multi-speed bike is to acheive ease in pedaling, not speed. Those using it to acheive speed are flirting with danger."

Unless young persons know how to use the handbrakes of multi-speed bikes, parents should remove the brake controlling the front wheel, Ford maintains. Use of the front brake alone can flip a bi yclist over the handlebars.

Ford issued other warnings to bicyclists:

- Persons must walk their bikes through downtown Plymouth, according to the city ordinance. "Downtown" is defined as the triangular area bounded by Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman between Union and Harvey.
- All bicycles ridden at night must be equipped with reflectors, according to the city ordinance and state law.
- When pedestrians are using sidewalks, all persons except young children should ride their bicycles on streets.
- Motor-assisted bicycles traveling at speeds of more than 35 miles per hour must be equipped with a windshield, and bicyclists must wear goggles.
- All bicyclists are subject to laws applicable to motorists, according to city ordinance and state law.

Canton wants berm at center

CANTON—Berms—the mounds of grass-covered earth which shield parking areas from roadways—are serving as levers, to used by the township board.

The board of trustees Tuesday tabled site plan approval of the second phase of Harvard Square Shopping Center, at the northeast corner of Sheldon and Ford.

The issue was tabled until the board's special meeting July 22 despite the pfanning commission's recommendation to approve the plans.

ALTHOUGH THE DEVELOPER agreed to construct a four-foot high berm across the front of the addition, township Supervisor Robert Greenstein requested another berm at the front and side of the established shopping center.

A two-foot strip of earth is now located around the established shopping center's parking lot. Developer Edward T. Boutrous, managing partner of the Harvard Co., proposed the planting of shrubs along the strip.

"This is not a penalty in any way," Greenstein said of the berm as he proposed tabling of the site plan matter.

"If you feel this would be of great harm to you," he said, addressing Boutrous, "I suppose we should vote on it now. We'd like you to volunteer to let us table this until July 22."

Boutrous had hoped to begin construction of the 23,500-foot addition, proposed to house commercial stores and office space, at the beginning of August. Financing for the project, he said, hinges on the site plan approval.

"We have cooperated with the township on every request you've made of us," the developer objected. "We've agreed tonight to put in a 40-foot-wide berm at your request."

Greenstein promised to write a letter to the company financing the proposed project, explaining the reason for the site plan delay. Township officials hold no objections to the building plans.

ORIGINAL SITE PLANS for the shopping center's second phase show a grass-covered, four-foot high berm with a 2-1 slope. Developers planned to construct the berm on a 20-foot-wide plot of land.

But according to township officials, a 2-1 slope is too steep for proper maintenance.

"Canton Township does not want a berm that's going to be full of weeds and not cut," said Greenstein. "That's not what we're looking for. We want good, clean greenery."

Township Engineer Glen Roberts said a berm with a 4-1 slope is the most desirable. A 32-foot-wide strip of land is needed to achieve that slope.

Because the site plan for the shopping center shows 50 more parking spaces than required, Boudres agreed to eliminate some parking spaces and construct a berm with a 40-foot width.

Township officials' campaign to locate berms in front of new and existing developments has proved successful in recent weeks.

Meijer Thrifty Acres has agreed to build a berm in order to construct a gasoline station at Canton Center and Ford. K-mart, located at Sheldon and Ford, has agreed to build a berm as have developers of a new Palace restaurant, proposed for a site on Ford near Haggerty.

School board to elect officers

The Plymouth Board of Education will elect officers Monday night at its organizational meeting, beginning at 8 p.m., preceding the regularly scheduled meeting.

The annual organization meeting after the June election will see the board select a president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer.

DURING THE organization meeting, the board will set the date, time and place for regular monthly meetings and decide on the methods to call special meetings.

The board will also approve the depository for school funds, name the auditor and legal counsel, and name a new construction committee representative, representatives to the Plymouth Community Development Commission and the agent of record for the district's insurance business.

The board will also consider bonding the treasurer and will designate where routine legal advertisements shall be printed.

THE ORGANIZATION and regular meetings will both be held in Canton High in the little theater at 8415 Canton Center Road north of Sheldon.

During the regular meeting, the board is scheduled to make a decision on purchase of the former Michigan Employment Security Commission building at 987 S. Mill.

It is expected to award construction and equipment contracts for Phase III of Canton High, award bids for fences at three schools — Miller and Smith elementary schools and East Middle School —, and act on a proposed exchange of property with a developer at school site No. 3.

SC, Wayne expand 2-plus-2

By SUE ROSIEK

An agreement that promises greater cooperation in providing post-secondary educational services between Schoolcraft Community College (SC) and Wayne State University (WSU) was signed Friday by Dr. C. Nelson Grote, SC president, and George E. Gullen, WSU president.

The agreement outlines the different educational roles of community colleges and universities, but stresses the mutual goals of both institutions. It does not include any provision for use of the Wayne County Child Development Center (WCCDC) in Northville.

Under terms of the agreement, SC will provide freshman and sophomore level courses, that may lead to either a certificate or associate degree, and vocational education.

WSU will be responsible for providing upper division junior and senior level courses leading to a baccalaureate degree, graduate and professional programs. WSU will not offer lower level courses that would compete with those available at SC.

"THIS MEMORANDUM is the culmination of a very long and profitable relationship between WSU and SC," explained Dr. Grote. "The specific agreement is an outgrowth of a project that was started one year ago and has since been formalized by the WSU Board of Governors and SC Board of Trustees."

Gullen added the agreement is more than an expression of coordination and cooperation among educational programs. "This will help SC and WSU help residents realize education beyond the high school level."

The two schools already have a "2-plus-2" program available in several technical areas, which allow students to take two years at SC and the last two years at WSU. Under the new agreement the courses offered under 2-plus-2 will be expanded. Career counseling also is included in the agreement.

"THIS IS MORE than just a piece of paper," said Gullen.. "The two schools are firmly committed and already have been working together effectively."

Both presidents agreed this will serve as a model for all community colleges and universities in Michigan and around the country.

Gullen added that WSU is considering similar agreements with Macomb Community and Wayne Community colleges. It already offers several 2-plus-2 programs with nine community colleges in southeastern Michigan.

THE SC-WSU agreement is effective for one year and can be renewed for five years "unless sooner supplemented, modified or terminated."

Grote explained the agreement is "preparatory and independent of the WSU-SC consortial proposal for use of the WCCDC. It does not speak to use of the facility or negate it," he said.

The two schools presented a joint proposal for use of the WCCDC earlier this year. The center, which includes 40 buildings on 700 acres, is on Sheldon between Five and Six Mile roads in Northville.

The SC-WSU proposal was accepted by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, but has been stalled because of a recent addition to Senate Bill 306, which stipulates that community colleges can not enter into any cooperative ventures with four-year institutions, which require the joint lease, purchase, or rental of space, without legislative authorization.

Grote said he has been working with area legislators and will appear before the House Appropriations Committe Wednesday, July 16. "I have great faith the House will take a second look at the Senate's stipulation."

"I can't think of a more effective way of using public property than the consortium proposal that SC and WSU have suggested for the WCCDC," added Gullen. "I hope it will go through."

GROTE SAID if the Legislature gives the go-ahead the two schools could start planning to use the center, but added that holding classes in the center this fall is "highly unlikely."

Grote said SC and WSU have already received a cost estimate for bringing the facility up to state and federal building standards. "Further delay would only escalate the cost," he said.

"Schoolcraft has a pressing need for the facility," added Grote, "because we need the space. Enrollment has been on the increase. We are going to desperately need more space or we may be forced to cap enrollment—a very unpopular decision.

Free hearing and vision tests now available to preschoolers

WAYNE COUNTY—Free hearing and vision tests are available to preschool children Mondays and Thursdays now through Sept. 29 at the Wayne County Health Center.

No appointment is necessary for the tests offered from 8:30-11:30 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. in Room 231 at the center located on Merriman, one-quarter mile north of Michigan.

Children ages two and a half through five will be tested for hearing loss. Those ages three and a half through five also are eligible for vision testing.

Vision and hearing tests are highly recommended for preschool children. About five per cent of all preschool children tested are found to have a medically significant hearing loss or vision deficiency. Problems in school and language development can often be avoided by early detection and corrective measures.

Workers busy at museum for opening

PLYMOUTH—These are busy days in the historical museum.

While all appears serene on the outside, a small army of volunteers works like beavers inside. They are battling against time—hoping that the historical facility can be opened in fall.

Each day, and from all sections of the community, these workers come to do their bit. Some of the work is tedious as they try to envision the old-fashioned kitchens and the almost forgotten wood burning stoves.

Others are studying and experimenting with the hanging of drapes in the old-time parlors, while Bruce Richard, dedicated secretary of the Plymouth Historical Society and the Plymouth Lions Club, is finishing the carpentry work on the interior of one of the stores on old Main Street.

Mrs. Harold Guenther can be found off in the corner looking over the old kitchen stove and wondering how far from the wall it should be placed.

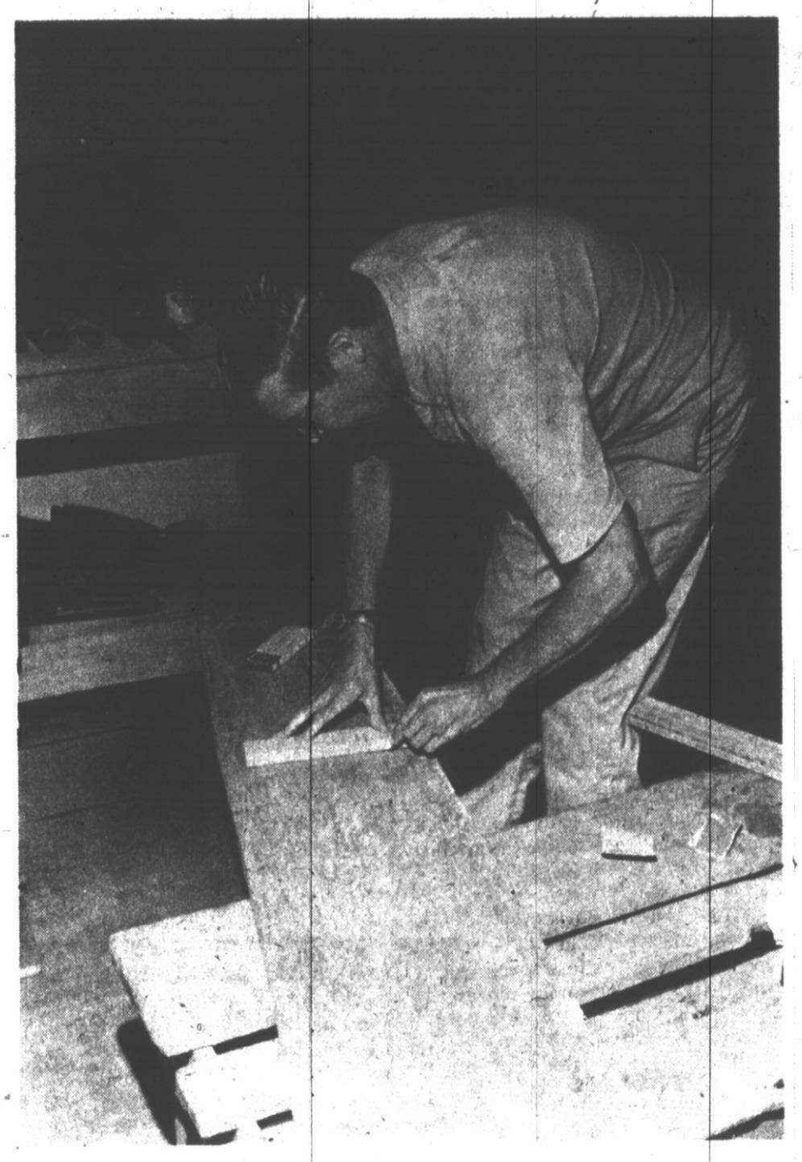

At her side is Mrs. Verne Steele. They study the intricacies of curtain rods. Meanwhile, George Burr and Mrs. Margaret Kidston have been called to examine the work on the old stove and are trying to figure out where the wood bucket should be placed to make it authentic.

Further down the old street, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Calhoun are putting the finishing touches on the replica of an old toy shop.

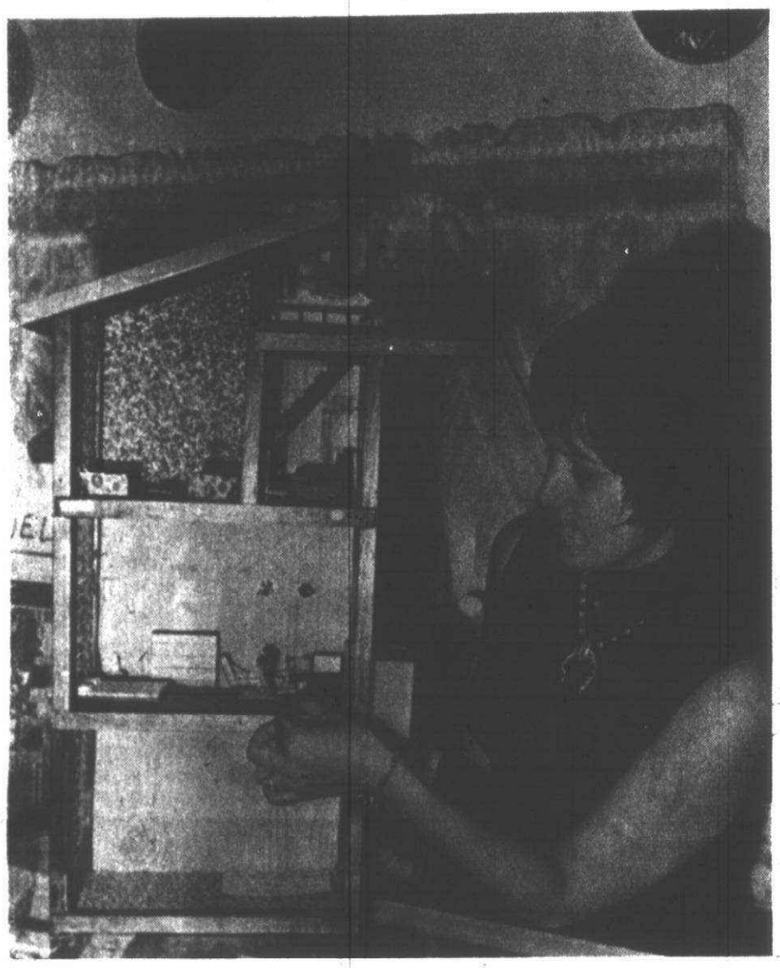

"I have never seen such dedication," Philip Mroczkowski, the new director, stated, "and I have worked around a few museums."

Despite the dedicated work, Mroczkowski hesitates to select a possible opening date.

"There is a lot of work to be done," he said, "and we are doing it just as fast as we can. We're anxious to have the museum opened, too."

BRUCE RICHARD is doing the refinishing of an interior room on old Main Street.

Replica antique dolls new venture for housewife

By EMORY DANIELS

Selling reproductions of antique China dolls has turned Lorraine Waun from a housewife into a businesswoman.

Mrs. Waun of Livonia recently opened Lorraine's Gifts shop at 615 N. Mill in the Old Village area of Plymouth—in a small area attached to the candy store.

She makes the bodies for some dolls, makes dresses for all of them, and her husband Bill pitches in by making customized doll houses, cradles and highchairs.

The business venture started out almost accidentally for the former Miss Martin, a 1961 graduate of Garden City East High. After marrying, living in Westland for a while before moving to Livonia, Mrs. Waun found herself with two young children — a boy, now eight, and a girl, age six.

IT ALL STARTED when Mrs. Waun purchased a doll kit to make a gift for her daughter. When the kit arrived, the doll had two left hands.

"Of course, I had to write the company to trade a left hand for a right hand and when I did I also asked for brochures. I immediately became interested and began making reproductions of China antique dolls for friends and neighbors.

"I was always interested in sewing and sewed a lot of clothes for my two children. This became a great hobby and it wasn't long before the possibilities of going into business became apparent.

"We looked around for a business location and decided the Old Village area of Plymouth was ideal."

AFTER OPENING her shop, one of the first things she did was to donate a doll for the Channel 56 public television auction. The woman who purchased the doll called back and asked if she could buy a cradle.

"I asked what type she wanted and put Bill to work. That was the first cradle he made. His first dollhouse was one he made for our daughter which he has since redesigned and now builds for resale."

Her husband is a sales manager for Air Gage Company of Livonia. They have been married for 10 years and until now, used their leisure time for making things for the children. They still do, but the hobbies are now a business.

ALL THE DOLLS are hand-painted bisque (a porcelain type of China).

Some are all China which are dressed with hand-sewn clothes and sold. Others have bisque arms, legs and faces and are attached to bodies Mrs. Waun makes. All have moveable parts.

If the original antique dolls were purchased, the asking price would range from $500 to $3,000 each. The SFBJ Poutty original sells for $3,000 and the George and Martha Washington original sefls for $500.

By buying a reproduction, the prices start at $25 and go up to $85. Some of the newer dolls soon to come in will be selling for higher prices.

"It's an unusual business because it's getting harder and harder to buy the original China dolls. These reproductions are also hard to find, and will increase in value. We checked around and think we have the only shop of this kind in southeastern Michigan."

Among the types of reproductions assembled are Jumeau, K star R, SFBJ Poutty, JDK Googlie, Dream Baby, Bylo Baby, Heuback, Shirley Temple, George and Martha Washington, and Kaiser Bafey.

The store's regular hours are form 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, and by appointment on any weekday.

Township studies weed control law

CANTON— Some help may be on its way for township residents with hay and rose fever.

Township ordinance officer Bruce Phillips last week presented the township board with a weed control ordinance that would prohibit existence of "noxious" weeds on land within the township. Board members tabled the matter until their Aug. 12 meeting.

Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein said the ordinance is designed to control the growth of weeds in fields close to densely populated residential areas.

"Weeds are an extreme nuisance to people who have lung problems," the supervisor said. "They're unsightly, and they hide junk and glass. Most 'good' communities have some type of weed control ordinance."

Passage of the ordinance would force subdivison developers to clear vacant subdivision lots of unsightly weeds, Greenstein said.

"But no one is going to go in your backyard with a magnifying glass and search for Canada thistle."

The supervisor said he instructed Phillips to research weed control ordinances of surrounding communities and extract ideas for the township's own weed control ordinance.

Under the ordinance, landowners must destroy all "noxious" or disease-inducing weeds on their land to prevent the weeds from seeding.

Township personnel may destroy weeds on lots in subdivided areas, if the lot owner has not destroyed the weeds after a 10-day notice. The township will bill the landowner for the expense.

Violation of the ordinance is punishable by a maximum $100 fine or 90 days in jail.

Subdivision has plat OK

CANTON— A new subdivison may soon arise at Cherry Hill and Hannan.

The board of trustees Tuesday unanimously gave tentative preliminary plat approval for the proposed Brookside Village Subdivison No. 3. The proposed 47-acre subdivison will contain 154 single-family houes.

Richard Lewiston, a representative of Practical Home Builders, Inc., said his company wpabide by the township's recently-enacted tree ordinance. The ordinance says developers must plant approved trees between the sidewalk and curb on each lot and replace all approved trees that are destroyed during the course of development.

"We intend to selectively clear lots in wooded areas," said Lewiston. "We hope to be able to save a substantial number of trees at the side and rear of lots." Supervisor Robert Greenstein said, "That's very commendable. That's a very important part of our consideration."

Expansion proposed

CANTON— Township residents may soon have more stores in which to shop.

The township planning commission last week unanimously agreed to recommend site plan approval of the Harvard Square Shopping Center's second development phase to the board of trustees.

The proposed development would add 23,500 square feet and 15 or 20 additional retail stores to the existing shopping center at Ford and Sheldon Roads.

A representative of the shopping center said construction work would probably begin in August, if site plan approval is granted. The project is scheduled for completion by the end of the year.

Canton High bids are low

The bids have come in for Phase III of construction at Plymouth Canton High, and school administrators are pleased with the results.

The bids are expected to be awarded by the school board when it meets Monday night and the construction schedule might allow opening of the new physical education-intramural and music wings in the fall of 1976.

There were some 38 bidders in all, including general contractors and subcontractors. The bids are within the construction budget for the most part, explains Supt. Mike Hoben, and two of the low bidders are contractors who did work on Phases I and II of the expansion.

Phase I was the academic wing and kitchen and Phase II was the vocational education area.

ONE CONTRACTOR involved in Phases I and II submitted a bid that was low by some $47,000.

The bids are being analyzed by Wakely Kushner Associates, Inc., St. Clair Shores architectural firm handling the project for the district.

The bids include alternates, such as the enclosed bridge and walkway connecting Canton and Salem high schools, which the board will have to decide whether to include in the project.

Among improvements on the drawing boards now are the covered walkway, gymnastics and dance area, wrestling area, handball and activity area, swimming pool and gym.

The bids were open Tuesday night and Hoben says the Canton High project is right on budget. The only real question areas are equipment and the covered walkway.

RAY HOEDEL, assistant superintendent for business, says there weren't many bidders for equipment and this area of the project is a bit weak now.

But there are other funds in the construction budget, he added, that can be used for equipment. The construction of the covered walkway might be delayed until the end of the project when it is known how much of the total work is finished, he added, but that is a decision the board will make.

The foundation will be laid in such a way that a covered walkway could be built in the future. The walkway would cost about $125,000.

With bids in for elementary schools and the Canton addition, the construction budget for the June, 1975 bond issue is now beginning to shape up, Hodel said. He expects the construction budget to be finalized in about 60 days.

THERE ARE 90 different construction projects in the $9,975,000 bond issue.

Because of inflation, some of the projects are now being re-estimated. An example is replacing the floor at East Middle School, originally budgeted at about $7,000. That work is now expected to cost $19,000.

Hoedel says extra money for equipment or the walkway can be found in money earned as interest through investing bond issue funds.

After the bond issue was approved by voters, the district sold the bonds in late fall of 1974 and invested the money. To date, the district has earned about $555,000 in interest income.

The district has $10.5 million to budget for the construction work. "We did it this way so we wouldn't have to ask voters to approve all the money we needed. Instead we took the voters money, invested it, and have earned a good return," said Hoedel.

Among the contractors bidding were Fordon Construction Co., Lewis Construction Co., J.A. Ferguson, Hickson & Costigan, Barton Malow Co., Christini McDonald, J.D. Naylor, W.J. Rewoldt, Schepers Electric, Gillis Electric, Hydron-Brand, and Hanlon Engineering.

Professionals elect Taylor

PLYMOUTH—Carl V. Taylor, principal of East Middle School, has been installed as a member of the Michigan Association of the Professions.

Membership is selected from the leadership of the 11 major professions in Michigan, according to the organization's secretary, Harry R. Ball.

Ball is a professional engineer from St. Joseph.

Miller School opens today

BUSILY SCRUBBING desks and chairs last week in preparation for today's (Monday) opening of the 45-15 program at Miller Elementary School were custodians Dave Ritchie (left) and Mark Venske. A group of 230 students enrolled on Miller's Track A will return to their pencils and books today. The remaining 570 children enrolled in the year-round program will requrn to school on Aug. 4, Aug. 25 or Sept. 15. (Staff photo)

JAMMING A SUMMER of painting into two short weeks at Miller Elementary School is custodian Tom Hedge. Custodians had to complete major painting and cleanup tasks by today, when a group of students enrolled in the pilot 45-15 program return to their classrooms. (Staff photo by Maurie Walker.)

School child care will be improved

Canton High will have some chahges in its nursery school facility this fall.

The child care program, started as a pilot program this year by Mrs. Mary Beth Koss, will be expanded to a full time project for the '75-76 school year.

KIDDIE KAMPUS, the continuing education program headed by Mrs. Sue Visser, also had shared the facilities this year. Both programs have been successful and well received by those families involved, says Mrs. Koss.

Because both programs require full time use of the facilities, the programs will be "merging" this fall and have a new name — "Canton Children's Corner."

The program will be run basically the same as the high school child care program. High school juniors and seniors will be the teaching assistants and principal activators in the program.

Mrs. Koss will be the lead person in coordinating the high school and preschool programs. She earned her BS in home economics vocational education and early childhood education from Eastern Michigan University.

Mrs. Visser will assist Mrs. Koss with supervision of the preschoolers. She has elementary certification in early childhood education and has experience as lead teacher at Storybook Gardens in Plymouth for seven years.

THE PROGRAM hours will be 9 to 11 a.m. and 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

It will be open to children three-years-old by February 1975, and to four-year-olds.

Parents may choose either a Monday, Wednesday and Friday at $72 or a Tuesday-Thursday at $48 combination.

There will be two semesters — October to January and February through May.

Admission will require a personal interview which will be conducted on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to noon beginning July 16 through Aug. 13.

Additional interview dates will be arranged if necessary. For an appointment, contact the continuing education office of the Plymouth Community School District.

Gift for youth

A DONATION of $200 to the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League was made recently by the City of Plymouth Fire Fighters Union Local 1811. Bob Degen, union president, presents the check to Jean Goodrich, league secretary.

South Deals
West led the king of spades.

A player with a long suit should usually make a desperate effort to play the hand. In the deal in the diagram the problem is for the two opponents to decide who is most desperate.

South opened with four hearts. This was a reasonable contract, but South could have considered the possibility of a slam.

The opening bid of four in a major suit usually shows an eight-card suit with game possibility, but little interest in partner's values.

West had an easy choice and South apparently realized the pessimism of his first call and proceeded to five.

In playing the cards, one is often involved in a decision which causes a hesitation.

For example, he who withdraws a card from his hand and then replaces it to play another, assures his partner he holds at least two cards. This is improper and should be avoided.

In another situation declarer may hold a suit with king-jack in dummy. He should decide how he intends to play the suit immediately. If the defense attacks the suit and he plays "in tempo" the defense may not see the problem.

The hand in the diagram is an advanced problem of the same sort. South should have done his thinking when he first saw the dummy.

His problem is the play of hearts. If he can reach dummy to play the top clubs, he can discard two diamonds and make his contract.

Unfortunately there is no good entry. Declarer can lead low toward the jack and hope the ace is on his left, or he can lead the heart king and hope a defender plays his ace.

South was very undecided. He ruffed the second spade and became involved in deep thought. Finally he produced the nine of hearts. West played the seven and again he hesitated a long time.

Meanwhile, East began to realize there was a problem. He had been thinking about winning the ace to return a club to perhaps give his partner a ruff.

When declarer showed such concern, he concluded that South had no entry to dummy and played low.

Of course, East might have come up with the answer anyway, but South's prolonged thought certainly stimulated East's.

Recent winners:

Charles Swithers and Hazel Rogers had high scores at the party bridge tournament at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

M.J. Willette and Fran Lang were east-west winners and Jack and Clarice Gordon took north-south honors at the Tuesday night duplicate session in the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Chambers discuss consumer problems

At a meeting called by the Canton Chamber of Commerce, the Plymouth, Westland and Wayne Chambers met to discuss consumer problems in their area and to come to a working agreement on handling of consumer information for other areas.

The chambers hope to help in the area of consumer information in relation to local businesses by acting as a clearinghouse for references and complaints on businesses.

The four chambers, and others to be invited to participate, will work cooperatively on the project.

Should a resident have a complaint about a business, the chamber encourages them to try once more to resolve the problem. If no agreement is met and they want to register a complaint, they should come to their local chamber office to do so.

The Canton chamber is at 41652 Ford Road, Plymouth chamber at 878 Wing, and the Westland chamber on Ford Road west of Wayne Road.

The complaint will be taken and a copy sent to the business in question along with a cover letter from the local chamber. This has proven to be a satisfactory method to date, says Janet Curlee, acting director of the Plymouth chamber who has worked for the Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber cannot offer legal advice, she adds, but it will act as a promoter of good business practice.

Should the matter in question not be resolved through the chamber, consumers are advised to use the services of the Better Business Bureau in Detroit, the Wayne County Protection Agency, or the Detroit Bar Association which will give legal advice.

"Your chamber doesn't encourage complaints," she concludes, "but is glad to assist business and customers alike."

2 hearings scheduled on mental health

WAYNE COUNTY—Two public hearings will be conducted this week on proposed policy guidelines and bylaws for the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board.

The human resources committee of the county board of commissioners will conduct a hearing at 2 p.m. today (July 14) in the second floor staff room of "D" Building at Wayne County General Hospital on Merriman between Michigan and Palmer.

A similar hearing will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday, July 15, on the seventh floor of the City-County Building on Woodward in Detroit.

The new guidelines and bylaws are required to conform to the language of Public Act 258 of 1974 which replaced the original Act 54 which established the state community mental health law in 1963.

The major effect of Act 258 is to increase the potential maximum amount of state support for local community mental health programs from 75 to 90 per cent.

The new standards will finally be adopted by the county board of commissioners on the basis of recommendations made by the human resources committee.

The Community Mental Health Board governs about $35 million worth of mental health services.

Copies of the proposed policy guidelines and bylaws will be available at the hearings.

Teacher strike bill changed

By STEVE BARNABY

State lawmakers, school board representatives and teacher union officials are sitting on the edge of their seats waiting for tomorrow's showdown over the school strike bill in the senate.

Labeled as the cliffhanger of the decade by one legislator, the strike bill would provide guidelines for bargaining units and courts in case of breakdowns during the negotiations process. At the center of the controversy are two amendments opposed by labor-supported Democrats in the upper house.

The amendments, introduced by Sen. David Plawecki (D-Dearborn Heights), would cause teachers to lose salary for each day on strike after Sept. 9 and school districts to lose state aid. The other amendment would give the courts the power to call for binding arbitration.

THE VOTE COULD go either way," says Sen. William Faust (D-Westland), whose district includes Garden City and parts of Canton Township. "The battle is very much in doubt. It's a real cliffhanger. In my nine years in the Senate, I have never seen a bill with as many bounces as this one."

Faust has supported the amendments, originally introduced by State Rep. William Keith (D-Garden City) in the house.

Last week amendment supporters could garner only 19 votes, so the vote was delayed. Twenty votes are needed to pass the bill.

Legislators say lobbying has been fierce over the weekend. The majority of the pressure has been toward six Democratic senators who support the amendments. They are Faust, Plawecki, Joseph Mack (D-Ironwood), John Bowman (D-Roseville), Patrick McCullogh (D-Dearborn) and William Fitzgerald (D-Detroit).

Fitzgerald, the majority leader, led last week's fight to line up the 20 votes. He is hoping for some sort of compromise.

Labor Democrats prefer the bill be unamended. As the bill stands without the amendments, teachers would be allowed to strike for up to five weeks, suffering financial penalties for only two of those weeks. Adding to the complications is a threatened veto by Governor William Milliken if amendments go unattached.

"I support the amendments right now," says Faust.

He sums up the Plawecki amendments by saying: "the amendments don't have the interests of the school boards at heart, nor the interests of the teachers. The amendments are interested in the students."

A KEY TO HOW the vote may go depends on which senators chose to attend Tuesday's session. Sen. John E. McCauley (D-Grosse Ile) is recovering from a heart attack and was absent last week. Also absent was Sen. Jack Faxon (D-Detroit), a member of the education committee.

"I received at least 50 phone calls from teachers and officials on Friday," said one senator. "But only one school superintendent called."

Plawecki, who is labor committee chairman, is in a crossfire, having heavy labor support in past elections, yet representing the Crestwood School District, where parents support the amendments. Crestwood suffered one of the most bitter school strikes last year in Michigan history. It lasted 45 days.

Also critical is the support of Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), whose district includes Livonia and Redford Township. He has taken a wait-and-see posture, leaving his options open for the final form of the bill.

Milliken has taken a firm stance towards strike legislation, saying the public wants a bill which would discourage strikes from taking place, rather than one which would encourage strike action.

"Instead of responding to the public interest and the public will, this bill surrenders to the special interests that wrote it," he says.

8 Madonna teachers named tops in field

Seven Madonna College faculty members have been selected to appear in the 1975 edition of Outstanding Educators of America. In addition, Sister Mary Dennis, associate professor of chemistry, will appear in the book for the second year in a row.

Sisters Mary Angeline, Mary Bridget, Mary Damascene, Mary Hugoline, Mary Emeline Bash, Mary Martina, and Dr. June J. Slobodian were those honored.

All were nominated by Sister Mary Danatha, Madonna president, on the basis of talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic and professional recognition.

SR. ANGELINE, who has been at Madonna since 1948, is professor of art and chairman of the department. In addition to teaching, she designs cards and classroom bulletin board materials which are sold throughout the country and in the college's card shop. Sr. Angeline is well known locally as an expert illuminator and caligrapher.

A former dean of students at Madonna College, Sr. Bridget is chairman of the department of home economics and family life. She has been on the Madonna faculty since 1955, except when she taught at Ladywood High School from 1965 to 1967.

Sr. Damascene, a graduate of Madonna, has been on the faculty since 1959. She has a special interest in North American Indian culture and received a fellowship in 1971 for study in that area.

SR. HUGOLINE, at Madonna since 1951, is associate professor of foreign languages and chairman of the department. She teaches French, Spanish and Polish.

A former assistant superintendent of Catholic schools in the Archdiocese of Detroit and former superintendent of Catholic schools in the Diocese of Kalamazoo, Sr. Emeline Bash is director of student development at Madonna. She also teaches in the college's education department.

Sr. Martina is professor of education at Madonna and directs the college Psycho-Educational Center. She is a specialist in reading and study skill improvement and in child development. At Madonna since 1953, she has been an instructor, dean of students and academic dean before her present assignment.

Dr. Slobodian is chairman of the department of education and psychology. A specialist in the problems of learning disabled children, she was appointed at Madonna in 1974.

Governor signs medical bills

LANSING—Gov. William Milliken recently signed two medical malpractice bills. They are the eighth and ninth approved since the crisis in malpractice insurance occurred.

He approved HB4326 which provides for an extension of the Good Samaritan Act to emergency situations in hospitals and HB4790 which prohibits the sale of medical information.

The extension of the Good Samaritan Act provides immunity from civil damages when a member of a hospital staff responds to a life-threatening emergency in the hospital.

Exceptions to this immunity would be cases of gross neglect, willful or wanton midsconduct or cases in which the physician or nurse had treated the patient in the past.

The medical information bill probhibits sale or purchase of medical information without the prior written permission of the patient. The penalty for the release, receipt or offer to buy or sell such information is a misdemeanor. Courts and state agencies, however, continue to have the power to acquire such information through valid legal processes.

Troy rejoins SEMCOG

The Troy City Council voted recently to rejoin the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

The 4-3 vote came after months of research by the city council- appointed SEMCOG study committee, which looked at SEMCOG and its role as a long-range regional planning council.

Troy had terminated its membership from SEMCOG in 1969.

Some of the dissenters in the 4-3 vote expressed concern that SEMCOG is just a step away from regional government. The SEMCOG executive committee, however, passed a formal resolution last year against regional governance and reasserted its role as a voluntary regional planning agency.

Troy is the sixth unit of government to join SEMCOG in 1975, bringing the total membership to 103. Other new members this year include Shelby Township, Augusta Township, Romulus, Macomb Intermediate School District and Redford Township.

Knowing basics most important

By ETHEL SIMMONS

Calling all bachelors, bachelorettes and newlyweds. If you don't know how to cook, much less what equipment to use, Geri Rinchler has some answers for you.

Mrs. Rinchler, a Birmingham resident who teaches cooking, points out, "The success of a dish relies on the quality of the ingredients. If you look at the mileage on my car, you'll see I traipse all over. The same holds true for equipment. Get good equipment."

She recommends and uses cast iron pots lined in enamel. These have excellent heat distribution, according to Mrs. Rinchler. Pots should be heated up slowly, she says, and you will have less of a disaster than with fast-heating stainless steel.

"Anyone can get along with a heavy set of pots and two knives— a paring knife and a French cook's knife," she says. "You can do anything with two knives."

MRS. RINCHLER has been invited by Birmingham's Community House to teach a new course, a three-session seminar or Introduction to Classic French Cuisine, from 8 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays beginning Aug. 5, and from 10 a.m. to noon Wednesdays beginning Aug. 6.

Beginning cooks should learn the basics, she says. For example, she is going to stress nutrition, vitamins and planning a menu for a family.

"I'm going to stress specific technique, like how to treat eggs— they're so liquid. And I'll show the proper technique for folding, which is something a lot of people don't teach. I'll show the technique of using a French knife, you keep the tip on the board, and show the proper way to julienne and to dice."

Mrs. Rinchler finds strainers are versatile and will demonstrate their use for sifting, sauces, draining and pureeing.

Aspiring professional cooks have favorite cooking teachers, it seems, and with Mrs. Rinchler it's Madeleine Kamman.

"I TALK about Madeleine all the time. I think she's a super cook. We'll do one of her recipes for a Ricotta Roulade, which is a rolled flat souffle of spinach and ricotta cheese with tomato sauce on top."

She continues, "You can do a roulade so many ways, such as with herbs. And we'll do omelets, too."

Mrs. Rinchler is a graduate of the Madeleine Kamman Cooking School in Boston, where she studied classic French cuisine. She is also a graduate of the Luberon College in Avignon, France, where she learned provencial cooking.

Mrs. Kamman, who is from Paris, was an instructor at Luberon when Mrs. Rinchler attended classes there.

The Birmingham cook is now studying for her professional diploma from Mrs. Kamman's Modern Gourmet Cooking School in Boston.

"EVENTUALLY I would like to have my own cooking school, or to continue with what I'm doing," she says.

Fall cooking courses Mrs. Rinchler will teach include Classic Cuisine in Troy's adult education program, on Tuesday nights, and Continental French and Italian in an adult education course at Birmingham's Pembroke School, Wednesday nights.

"I prefer to do both French and Italian cooking," she says. "They're closely related. When I was little my grandmother used to teach me how to cook, and on Sunday afternoons we'd make pasta recipes."

Because of her Italian heritage, Mrs. Rinchler does a lot of Italian cooking, but she says she uses French methods.

FOR AN EASY dessert, she whips up Madelines, small French butter cakes.

"The process and method is very similar to pound cake," she says. "It's very popular in France, where they don't prefer big, gooey cakes."

Two of her favorite cookbooks are Madeleine Kamman's "Dinner Against the Clock" and "The Making of a Cook. The back cover photo on one of the books shows Madeleine making Madelines.

Actually, Madelines have nothing to do with Mrs. Kamman, she explains. It's an old recipe.

To make Madelines, you need a Madeline pan, available in cooking shops. One tin makes 12.

MADELINES

(Small French butter cakes)

1-¼ cups sweet butter
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
2 cups, sifted flour

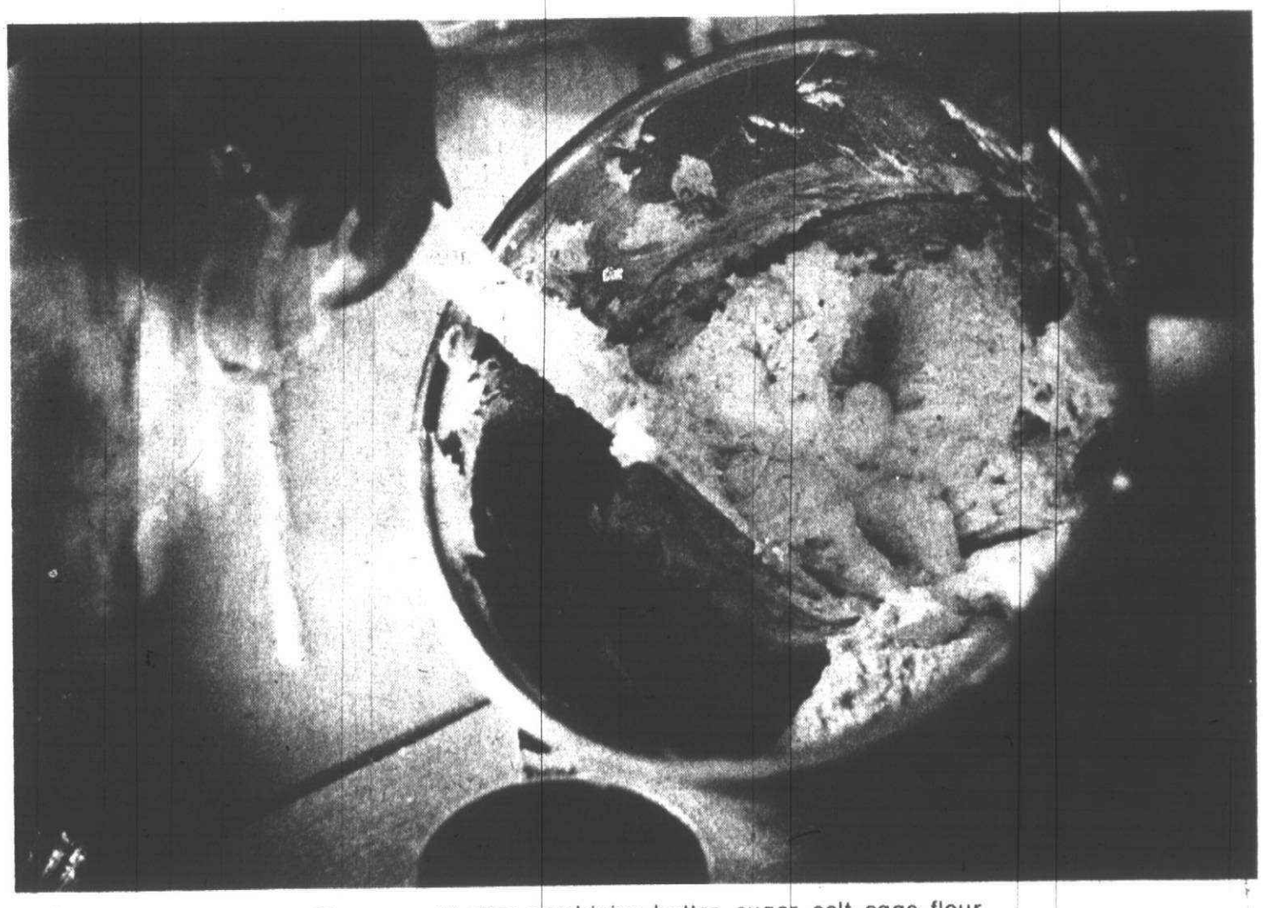

Cream the butter until very white. Add sugar and salt and beat again. Add the egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in the flour. Beat egg whites. Mix one quarter of their volume into batter and fold in the remainder. Turn into well-buttered Madeline pans. Bake in a pre-heated oven at 325 degrees until golden brown (18-20 minutes). Makes 24 medium size.

Geri Rinchler uses spatula to put mixture into Madeline pans. (Staff photos by Barbara McClellan)

Stay right in your own backyard. Chances are, there are plenty of exciting things to do as a family that aren't that far away. Like visiting a national park. Go fishing. Or camping. Or taking a short trip to the nearest big city or point of interest. And remember. If you're a little short of money for your vacation, see HFC about a Traveloan. editorial opinion

Acts of kindness can be contagious

You can learn a lot about a town by watching a parade. But the entire story is seldom seen by watching only the units marching down Main Street.

During the Plymouth Fourth of July Parade, once again outstanding, a story which tells a lot about the community was reoccuring near the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Main.

There wasn't any fanfare or applause. The unit quietly appeared and left, as it has in years past.

FOR SEVERAL years now the VFW Mayflower Post in Plymouth has organized a crew of members to escort senior citizens from the West Trail Nursing Home to see the parade.

The members go to the nursing home, pick up their guests for the day, and push them on wheelchairs a few blocks to the parade. The nursing home furnishes large straw hats for protection from the sun, and the escorts have a great time because they know their guests are having a great time.

This year the VFW men were joined by a couple members of the American Legion in Plymouth who wanted to become a part of this annual act of kindness. Yes, kindness is contagious.

As one veteran put it: "The VFW and American Legion are proud to be a part of this community. These West Trail residents are American citizens who can't walk today, but we can push them.

"It's easy giving fine people like this a helping hand. If we didn't, maybe they wouldn't have the chance to watch the parade. Just watching them enjoy the parade is reward enough for us."

THE REWARD of self-satisfaction from being a good citizen and providing a helping hand is enough for any man. But neither does it hurt to receive commendation from others.

So we salute the VFW and American Legion members for this very thoughtful act. They are right, if others didn't do it, maybe these senior citizens would miss the July Fourth Parade. Maybe others would, but nothing has been left to chance.

It has been done for years, and may be done for years to come, but should never be taken for granted by the community. Congratulations to all involved. And because kindness is contagious, maybe other groups can help these or other senior citizens on other days during the year. Let's join the veterans to make sure these citizens don't become forgotten Americans.

The Stroller

Seafood search

By W. W. EDGAR

No longer is there any cause to wonder (at least by The Stroller) how Diogenes must have felt when he went searching in vain for an honest man.

The Stroller had much the same frustrated feeling recently when he went looking for for his favorite seafood dishes in the area's popular eating establishments.

Scanning the menus in the various dining salons he hurriedly glanced for the section set aside for seafood. There he saw listed just a few items — Lake Superior whitefish, perch, pickerel, and shrimp salad. Here and there were a few variations such as lobster and Boston Scrod.

But nowhere did he see such old time favorites as minced clams, steamed cherrystones, deviled clams, deviled crabs, clam stew, or even hard-shelled crabs.

These were all delicacies when The Stroller was a youth and through the years many were the times he has yearned for just another taste of a deviled clam.

THE CLOSEST he ever came to the seafood treat was what the supermarkets listed as "baked" clams. Sure enough, they looked like the old-time treat. But the mixture in the shell was a far cry from what mother used to make.

On another occasion, during a trip to the nation's capital, that once housed some of the country's major seafood houses, he inquired about the deviled clams.

"Oh, we have them," the waitress said, "but they are not on the menu. They are for the help."

Imagine that!

As a favor The Stroller was given a few and what a feast that was — yet the regular customers were denied them on the theory that few called for them.

It is the same with steamed cherry stone clams. Here and there a fellow can pick up a serving of fried clams.

But they are what the seasoned seafood eater refers to as "dirty necks" in that the only edible part is the tip of the sand bag picked up on the beaches when the tide goes out.

The true lover of steamed clams prefers the cherry stones which are best when served as part of the old-fashioned clambake where the food is prepared outdoors and allowed to steam for hours.

AS A SUBSTITUTE The Stroller sometimes takes the cherry stone clams, when available, and places them in a steamer at home.

It is his only chance to satisfy the longing for the delicious dish. He still wonders why our leading establishments don't serve them, inasmuch as they are the same as the cherry stones served on the half shell.

While on the search nowhere did The Stroller find hard-shell crabs which we often referred to as "poor man's lobster." To him, and many others, the crab meat is preferred to lobster— and costs only a fraction of that now being charged for the popular pink colored dish that usually tops the modern list of seafoods.

These hard-shell crabs also can be devlied and make a dish fit for a king — if The Stroller could ever find them.

Returning to these old time favorites would be one way of beating the high cost of dining out — and even make things easier on the little woman at home.

If you ever find them hereabouts, please, please please, let The Stroller know.

Letter To The Editor

Thanks for open house

Editor:

As one of hundreds of visitors to the Canton Township Fire Department open house, I wish to express my thanks and admiration to Fire Chief Mel Paulun and his men.

Considering the 36 square miles that our one fire station is required to protect, I wanted some assurance that there was sufficient fire fighting equipment and men capable of utilizing it.

After touring the facilities, I was satisfied that the equipment was adequate and the men well-trained. Their patience in answering questions and the demonstrations for the children were a first-class job of public relations.

In this regard, our tax money is well spent.

PROBATIONER'S PROGRESS, from the 16th District Court and a hearing before Judge James E. LOVE finds a way for those on probation

By MARGARET MILLER

What begins as involuntary volunteerism usually ends up as willing service.

And what might have been a police record becomes instead a volunteer service credit record.

It's all part of the Probation Volunteer Program evolved by Livonia's Office of Volunteer Energies (LOVE) and the 16th District Court.

In this program, persons brought into court on a variety of first offenses are placed on probation and "sentenced" to serve people instead of serving time.

And, with more than 70 persons so far moved into the program, it seems to be a winner for everyone. The judge finds a way of impressing the seriousness of the offense, hours of much-needed service are gained and the offender gets a new outlook and maybe a new self-image.

PERSONS ARRESTED for such offenses as shoplifting, reckless driving, assault and battery and drunkenness are involved in the program, said District Judge James E. Mies and LOVE director Joan Duggan.

"We have a lot of people who come into court who really need to be impressed by the seriousness of their actions," Judge Mies said.

"But these are first offenders, not criminals, and a stiff sentence does not seem appropriate. So we put them on probation, and give them a chance to work it out by helping someone else."

If an offender is to be put into the Probation Volunteer Program, the judge must be convinced it is indeed a first offense and the complainant and the prosecutor must agree to the action, Judge Mies said.

THOSE WHO FIT are placed on probation, sentencing is delayed and they travel immediately the few hundred feet between the district courtroom and the LOVE office, both located in the Livonia governmental center at Five Mile and Farmington Road.

From her desk in the Senior Citizen's building, Mrs. Duggan then makes a note of the probationer's qualifications and interests and looks for a volunteer assignment for him or her.

It might be helping Sister Mary Alexandra in the student center at Madonna College, or assisting with one of the many youth activities on the Livonia parks and recreation program, or maybe helping at a church or a school or the Livonia Family Y.

Joan Duggan knows about such openings, because it's the job of the office she heads to coordinate the community's willing helpers with the institutions that need help.

"WE TRY," she said, "to place these probationers as quickly as possible. It's best to get them going right away. But even more important, we try to place them in a spot that fits their own interests and capabilities.

"That gives them the opportunity to improve their self-images, and often it's a low self-image that brought the offender into court in the first place."

Mrs. Duggan mentioned, as examples, a young woman with musical ability assigned to a junior high to help direct a music production, a carpenter who helped with some construction work for a local commission, athletic types sent to help with Little League teams.

One of the latter, she said "told me it didn't seem like much punishment."

THE PROBATIONERS are treated like any other volunteer, Mrs. Duggan added. The LOVE office knows why they are giving 40 to 80 hours of service, and the person at the organization involved who will be supervising the work.

But most of those they work with do not know them as probationers. The kind of acceptance that policy brings also is good for the ego, Mrs. Duggan said.

An added benefit, she went on, is the new outlook that comes to the probationer—the bored housewife who shoplifts or the rebellious teen who gets drunk and disorderly.

"They are appalled that so many are worse off than they are," she said. "There's a dawning awareness that was not there before when they figured they were at the bottom of the pile."

WITH THE PROBATION Volunteers Program now several months old, the courts count 21 persons who have completed their volunteer service, 35 still working on it and 15 awaiting placement in suitable assignments.

Of those who have completed the program, several are continuing their service because they enjoy it and feel needed.

Mrs. Duggan and Judge Mies agree it's too early for any full evaluation.

"But only one probationer told to report to LOVE failed to show," said Mrs. Duggan, and the judge added that none who had gone through the volunteer service channels had shown up again in court.

The program, both believe, is helping build self-esteem for the offenders involved, and thus makes them more likely to get off the courses of action that brought them into court.

So far, probation plus service with LOVE seems to be spelling success.

Nader to address co-op institute

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader will give the opening address at a three—day Cooperative Institute Aug. 1-4 in Bursley Hall at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Open to anyone interested in cooperatives, the institute will also host Esther Shapiro, director of Detroit's consumer affairs department; Fred Thornthwaite, general manager of Cooperative Services Inc., and Agnes Bryant, vice president of consumer research of the Research Advisory Council and director of Detroit's human rights department.

Pat Greathouse, UAW vice president, and William Marshall, president of Michigan AFL-CIO, will address a special session on "Common Goals of the Cooperative and Labor Movements."

With interest in cooperatives increasing, the institute has invited Rod Glen, president of the Hub Co-op in Nanaimo, British Columbia, to speak on the practical aspects of co-ops.

His organization is a direct charge co-op with each member contracting to pay about $2 per week for the maintenance of its store.

The groceries, household supplies, gasoline, hardware and other products are purchased in large quantities at wholesale rates and sold to members only, also at wholesale rates.

Classes during the institute will include basic and advanced finance for running a co-op, as well as one on programs that work. This will feature representatives from several successful co-operatives in the fields of supermarkets, auto repair, health services, housing and buying clubs.

Registration fee, which will include the dinner and the Monday lunch, will be $37 for adults and $14 for students. Registration rates are $6 higher for those who are not a member of the Consumer Cooperative Alliance or a co-sponsoring organization.

For further information contact David Friedrichs, North American Student Cooperative Organization, Ann Arbor, or Evelyn Sandweiss, Cooperative Services, Inc., 7404 Woodward, Detroit.

DRC head appraises racing as meet ends

By TOM SCHRAM
Sports Editor

The Detroit Race Course at Schoolcraft and Middler Belt in Livonia has been a haven for thoroughbred racing in Michigan since 1950.

Recent years have seen a quiet downward trend of the kingly sport in the state due to a number of factors and the DRC has felt the full brunt of that slide.

The head man at the mile track for the last three years has been Dick Wilson, vice president and general manager. As the DRC wrapped up its 1975 thoroughbred season last weekend, Wilson offered his thoughts and comments on the Livonia track and the future of horse racing in Michigan in an exlusive interview with the Observer & Eccentric.

"THE PROBLEM is that we are isolated. In fact we're an island." (Staff photos by Art Emanuel)

Q: The DRC thoroughbred meeting has hit upon hard times in the last few years. How did the track do this meeting?

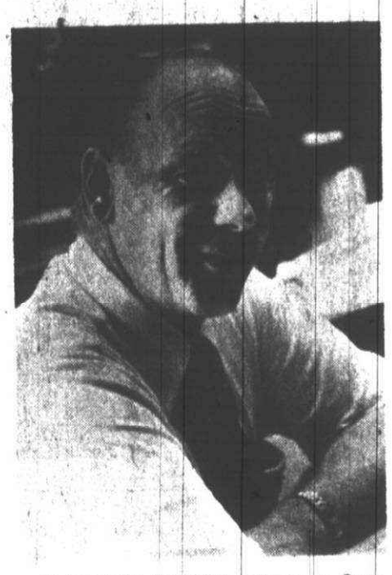

Wilson: The average attendance was higher and the handle was up from last year. This year we will average between 780,000 and 790,000 people. Last year we averaged 687,000.

Q: And so the track did better financially than last year?

Wilson: Not really. Although attendance was up about 11.8 per cent, I would attribute 60 to 70 per cent of that increase to Sunday racing. And the cost of Sunday racing is much higher. We have to pay all union employes time and three-quarters on Sundays and most salaried employes get time and one-half. Also, the cost of services such as ambulance and photo-finish camera rises on Sunday. The majority of the increase, though, is in salaries.

Q: What, then, is the future of Sunday racing at the DRC?

Wilson: I don't know whether Sunday racing is viable or not. Frankly, there are good and bad points to it. With the new formula from the state we could do better.

"I DON'T KNOW whether Sunday racing is viable or not."

Q: That new formula is contained in Michigan Senate Bill 819. The bill has passed the state House and Senate and Governor Milliken is expected to sign it shortly. What exactly will this legistlation do?

Wilson: It will increase the track's retention of the handle by two per cent. Of this, one per cent will go directly to purses, raising them by an average of $800 to $1,000.

Q: It was this legislation which nearly closed the track twice during the final weeks of the meet because of ballot-box boycotts by militant horsemen. Although the track managed to avoid a shutdown both times, why did this confrontation come at all.

Wilson: The threeatened boycotts were attempts by horsemen to focus attention on their bill.

Q: What essentially are the differences between the bill which passed and the horsemen's bill (Michigan House Bill 5026 which is still pending in the State Legislature)?

Wilson: Basically, that bill would also increase breeders' awards and supplement purses for Michigan-bred horses.

Q: What do you think of that bill?

Wilson: We are at the point where any help is desparately needed. The sport is in trouble. If there had not been any interference, we feel that the Senate bill could have been passed a month ago.

Q: Interference by the horsemen?

Wilson: Yes, by the horsemen. Q: You said that thoroughbred racing was in trouble. Such was not the case just a few years ago. What has been the recent problem with the sport.

Wilson: Basically its been two things. First, we have not been able to compete with surrounding areas such as Illinois, Ohio and Indiana. One of the problems is that controlled medication has been allowed in those areas (Ed. note: Controlled medication for Michigan horses was given approval June 15). The other reason has been purse money. The quality of horses has been poor because we haven't been able to compete with other areas in purses. I think the Senate Bill will change that.

Q: DRC specifically has not been as successful as Michigan's other thoroughbred track, Hazel Park. Why is that?

Wilson: You're right about not being competitive with Hazel Park. In 25 years of head-to-head competition, I think we've beaten them only two or three times. The problem is that we are isolated. In fact we're an island. The problem has been one of access and this year has been particularly bad. Not only are the access roads their usual problems but they've been tearing them up this year. And the truck traffic on Schoolcraft has been a hindrance.

Q: Will this problem continue during your harness season which begins on Tuesday?

Wilson: Not nearly to such a great extent. Harness racing is at night and the road construction stops at night.

Q: Is there anything special planned for that meet?

Wilson: We'll have Grand Circuit racing Sept. 1 to Sept. 6 and Good Old Times Nigt is Sept. 12. Plus we'll just have good racing every night.

Q: Getting back to the question of road access, what is the current status of the Jeffries Freeway which will replace Schoolcraft and run right next to the track?

Wilson: It was supposed to be finished in 1973 but the steel contractor went bankrupt. Then they changed the completion date to 1975. We met with officials from the highway department a few weeks ago and now the target date is 1976.

Q: Do you think that's realistic?

Wilson: I'm very pessimistic.

Q: If and when it is ever completed, what will it do for the Detroit Race Course?

Wilson: It will make all the difference in the world. If we ever live to see it, it will be just great.

"WE'LL JUST have good racing every night."

Berry League roundup

Hottest league hitter gives Panthers sweep

When you're hot you're hot, and Mark Ward was just that for the Panthers of the American Division of the Berry League last week.

Ward put on a display of hitting to lead his team to a 13-6 romp over Livonia Optimist and a 5-4 trimming of DMIC.

Following Tuesday's victory over Optimist, the 15-year old Ward had got a hit in each of his last seven at bats.

At that point he was batting an even .500 with 14 hits in 28 appearances, including seven doubles, one triple and one homerun.

"His play has just been outstanding, and at 15, he's one of the youngest players in the league," said Panther Coach Lee Bejerke.

Ward started the onslaught against Optimist when he doubled to open the first inning. Craig Barrowcliff, A.J. Baker, Bob Miller amd Jim Utuch then singled consecutively, and the rout was on.

Brian Macek took the win for the Panthers, advancing his record to 2-0. The one bright spot in the game for Livonia was Jeff Finenstein's fourth inning two-run homerun.

PANTHERS — DMIC

Ward continued his good hitting Thursday as the Panthers edged DMIC, 5-4. Ward drove in the first run of the game in the Panthers' three-run third.

DMIC came back to tie things, but in the seventh, Ward walked, and Mike Watson was installed as a pinch runner. Steve Serafa, who had earlier stolen home for DMIC, then booted two consecutive grounders to score Watson.

Serafa hit a long triple with two out in the bottom of the seventh but winner Craig Barrowcliff bore down to retire the side.

BLUE — APPLIANCE

Adray Appliance won its first of two games Tuesday, topping Berry Blue 2-0 as Dan Bushart won his second game in as many decisions.

George Willard and Rich Campbell both singled in the second, and Willard scored on a passed ball for all the margin Appliance would need. In the fifth, Gary Stafford singled with two out, moved to second on an error and scored on Ted Ackerman's single for an insurance run.

Blue put runners on second and third in the seventh. But Nelson Yanick, who had three hits in three previous appearances, popped out to end the game.

FISCHETTI — APPLIANCE

Appliance advanced its record to 8-3 Thursday, topping Fischetti Floors, 3-1.

Appliance scored twice in the opening frame on two walks, Richard Campbell's RBI single and a double steal.

Fischetti scored its only run in the bottom of the inning on Jim Hill's RBI triple.

Howard Copeland tripled to right to score Dan Bushart for the only other Appliance run. Copeland took the win for Appliance.

MNB — BLUE

A tie may be like kissing your sister, but Michigan National Bank Coach Pat Ruvolo, whose team is steamrolling to the Blue Division title with a 9-1-1 record, know's its better than a loss.

"It's one more point toward the title," Ruvolo said after his team tied Berry Blue in a game called by curfew Thursday night.

MNB stranded 12 in the game, including three in the fourth inning when it scored twice on four hits and two Blue errors.

MNB also loaded 'em in the seventh but could not get the key hit.

CROWE—MNB

Michigan National Bank had better luck last Tuesday when Pat Ruvolo held Crowe Associates to only one hit as MNB won 6-2.

Crowe's only hit of the day came on Brian Butcher's chopper over the head of MNB fistbaseman Jim Snyder in the first.

After that, it was all MNB, which was led by Dave Pelly's two hits and three RBI's. Ruvolo is now 4-0.

THURSTON — RED

The best pitcher with a mediocre record in the Berry League has to be Thurston's Randy Rodriguez.

Rodriguez's teammates gave him just enough support Thursday as Thurston reached the .500 plateau with its third straight win in a 1-0 victory over Berry Red. Rodriguez, now 3-2, has lost both games by 1-0 courts, and both have come in extra innings. His three wins have all been shutouts.

Thurston had only three hits in the game, but one of them, Doug Sheridan's single in the sixth, produced the winning run. Dave Ribick came on to run for Sheridan and advanced on an error, and two wild pitches for the winning margin.

B.J. Lajoir had three of Red's five hits.

THURSTON — FISCHETTI

Thurston had the big bats out Tuesday and defeated Fischetti Floors 10-4.

Thurston's big inning was the sixth when it scored six times.

Tony Zygiel, Steve Kantos, Randy Kroll, Dave Ribick, Dennis Kuschel and Dave Hoeflich each had singles in that rally, and Fischetti's pitching yielded three walks. Randy Rodriguez had two hits and two RBIs previously.

Ribick was the winner for Thurston with last inning relief help from Dave Hoeflich.

Eight records fall in Metro-West meet

New records were the order of the day last Wednesday at the Metro-West Track Club "Odd Events" meet held at Garden City East High School.

The meet, which attracted nearly 100 competitors, saw new marks set in eight of 10 events.

Bill Stewart of the Ann Arbor Track Club was the most impressive winner as he took the three-quarter mile event in 3:04.2. Stewart beat the old mark by 25 seconds. The first five finishers in the eventwent under the old standard.

Metro-West members went one-two is the longest event of the day, the four mile run, as Dout Kurtis won with a record 20:18.5 and Doug Sweazey finished second at 20:30.

Dave Martin won the 120-yard high hurdles (college height) in 15.2 seconds. Inkster's Mike Andrews was second in 16.7.

Larry Fisher set a new mark in the high jump with a leap of 5-8. John Glenn's Kelly Frost also cleared 5-8 but settled for second with more misses.

Angie Johnson and Cheryl Gilliam, both of the Motor City Track Club, went one-two in the women's 100-yard dash. Johnson was clocked in 11.4 seconds to win the event by one-tenth of a second.

Detroit's Oscar Suddarth won the men's 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds. Russell Bailey of Inkster was right behind in 9.95.

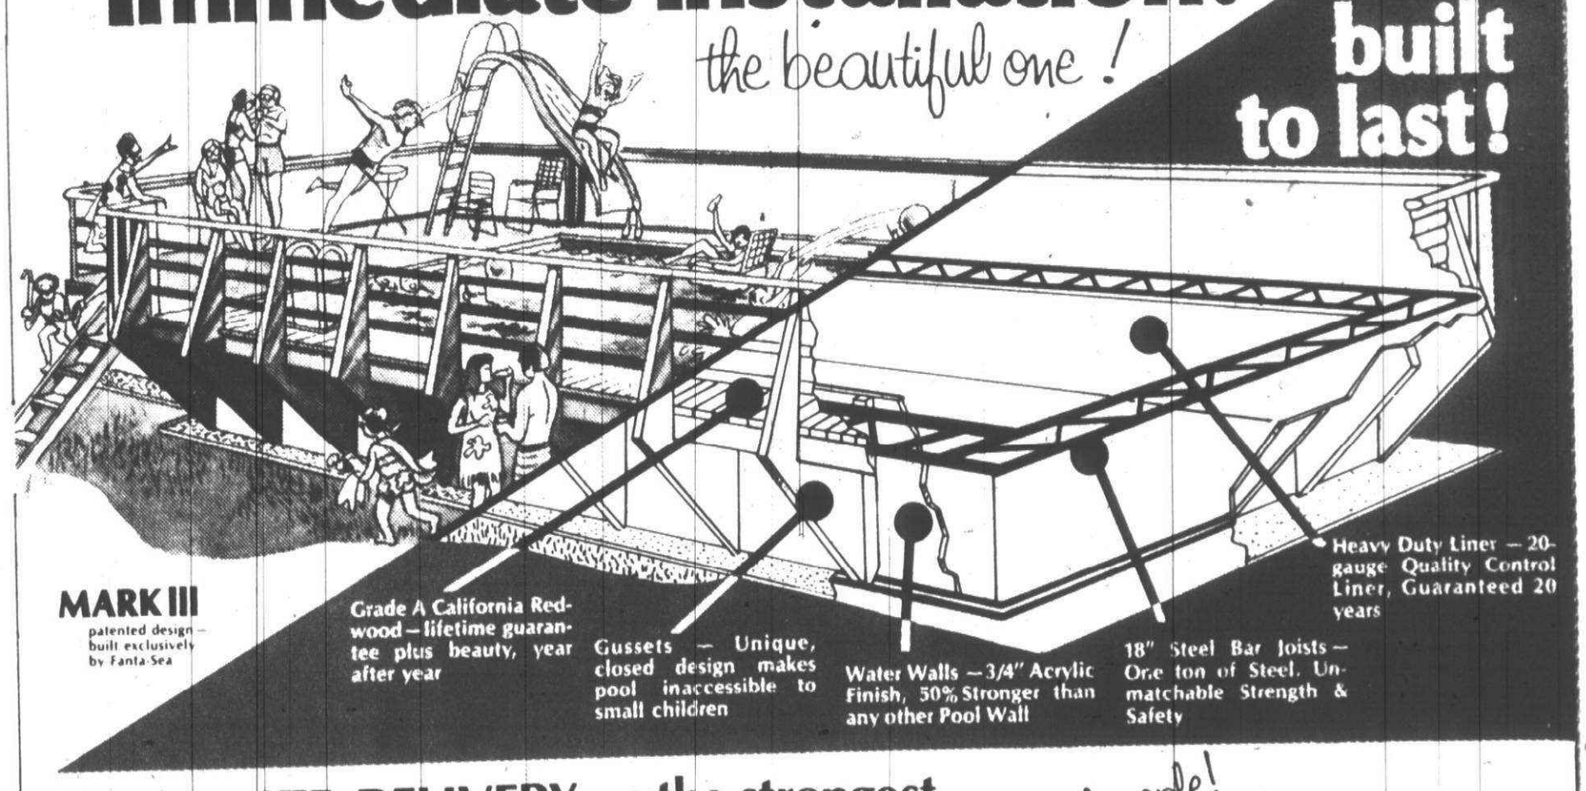

Livonia's John Dawe set his second meet record in as many weeks as he won the men's 660-yard run in 1:24. Darr King of Fordson was second, one second behind.

Sisters Rochelle and Robin Collins of Detroit swept first and second in the women's 660-yard run. Rochelle ran a record 1:35.2.

The 330 yard dash ended in a dead heat as Oscar Suddarth and Chris Richards both broke the tape at 36.1 seconds.

The Motor City Track Club foursome of Donna Weaver, Charles Carroll, Cheryl Gilliam and Charles Grayson won the alternating men-women 880-yard relay with a time of 1:39.3 for another record.

Flagpole fixed

THE FLAG flew July 4 at the VFW Mayflower Post in Plymouth, but not without some scurried effort. A June storm damaged the flagpole which had to be torn down and repaired. The members got busy and a couple days before the Fourth of July the flagpole was back up, in time for the Post's annual chicken barbecue. Plans are now in the works to purchase a new swivel-type pole. (Staff photos).

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH
ORDINANCE NO. XXXV-A

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE FIRE PREVENTION CODE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH FOR THE PURPOSE OF CHANGING ARTICLE 14, FIRE PROTECTION EQUIPMENT.

THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

PART I. PURPOSE The Fire Prevention Code Amendment endeavors to avoid requirements which might involve unreasonable hardships or unnecessary inconvenience or interference with the normal use and occupancy of a building, but insists upon compliance with a minimum standard for fire safety necessary in the public interest, even though a financial hardship may be involved in some individual cases.

PART II. The Fire Prevention Code of the Township of Plymouth is amended and changed in the following manner and respects only:

A. Article 14, Section 14.2 is hereby amended by adding the following Section 14.2a and 14.2b in the place and stead of the provisions of Section 14.2 of the Fire Prevention Code, Edition of 1970:

SECTION 14.2, SURVEY OF PREMISES AND SPECIFICATION OF EQUIPMENT

(a) The Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall survey each assembly, educational, industrial, institutional, mercantile, storage, multifamily buildings, buildings with two (2) or more dwelling units, and residential occupancies except single family dwelling units, and shall specify suitable fire extinguishing appliances and fire detecting devices as may be necessary to provide reasonable safety to persons and property.

(b) Each dwelling unit within buildings of multifamily houses, buildings with two (2) or more dwelling units, and residential occupancies, regardless of height or number of stories, construction, or when building permit was issued, shall be provided with a minimum of one (1) approved smoke detector sensing visible or invisible particles of combustion installed in a manner and location approved by the Fire Marshal. Buildings issued permits for construction or constructed prior to August 15, 1975, shall be allowed one (1) year from effective date of this amendment to comply with the Fire Code.

ORDINANCE NO. 63

An Ordinance providing for the arrest of persons by Township officers for misdemeanor violations of Township Ordinances, without a warrant, in certain cases, and as an alternative to filing a complaint and warrant as required by law, and to issue appearance tickets for said violations to be filed in District Court requiring the persons so charged with the violation to appear in court on a certain date and time to answer to said charge.

The Charter Township of Canton ordains:

Sec. 1. TOWNSHIP ORDINANCE VIOLATION: ARREST WITHOUT WARRANT, SERVICE OF APPEARANCE TICKET. When any person is arrested without a warrant for any misdemeanor, violation of a Township ordinance cognizable by a justice of the peace, municipal judge, district court judge, or judicial officer, the defendant need not be taken before a justice of the peace, municipal judge, district judge, or judicial officer as the case may be, but in the alternative a township officer duly authorized and appointed by the district court may issue and serve an appearance ticket upon the defendant and release him from custody.

Sec. 2. MUNICIPAL ORDINANCE VIOLATION: ARREST WITHOUT A WARRANT: ISSUANCE AND SERVICE OF APPEARANCE TICKET. (1) Whenever a township officer has arrested a person without a warrant for any misdemeanor or violation of township ordinance cognizable by a justice of the peace, municipal judge, district judge, or judicial officer, in lieu of taking such person to a legal criminal court and promptly filing a complaint therewith, he may issue to and serve upon such person an appearance ticket as hereinafter defined in Section 5.

(2) A public servant other than a police officer, who is specifically authorized by law to issue and serve appearance tickets with respect to a particular class of offenses of less than felony grade, may issue and serve upon a person an appearance ticket when he has reasonable cause to believe that the person has committed such an offense.

(1) Except as otherwise provided, a police officer or other public servant who has issued and served an appearance ticket, at or before the time an appearance ticket is returnable, shall file or cause to be filed in the local criminal court in which it is returnable a complaint charging the persons named in the appearance ticket with the offense specified therein.

(2) If the complaint is not sufficient on its face, and if the court is satisfied that a complaint sufficient on its face cannot be drawn and filed on the basis of the available facts or evidence, it shall dismiss the complaint.

Sec. 4. FAILURE TO APPEAR. If after the service of an appearance ticket and the filing of a complaint for the offense designated therein the defendant does not appear in the designated local criminal court at the time the appearance ticket is returnable, the court may issue a summons or warrant of arrest based upon the complaint filed.

Sec. 5. APPEARANCE TICKETS, DEFINITION, FORM, CONTENTS, DISPOSITION. As used in this ordinance, "appearance ticket" means a complaint or written notice issued and subscribed by a police officer or other public servant authorized by law to issue it, directing a designated person to appear in a designated local criminal court at a designated future time in connection with his alleged commission of a designated violation or local ordinance for which the maximum permissible penalty does not exceed 90 days in jail or a fine of $100.00, or both in the discretion of the court. The appearance ticket shall be numbered consecutively, be in such form as determined by the attorney general and the department of state police and the state court administrator and shall consist of the following parts:

(a) The original which shall be a complaint or notice to appear by the officer and filed with the court.

When under the provisions of this ordinance an officer issues an appearance ticket the examining magistrate or judicial officer may accept a plea of guilty or not guilty upon the appearance ticket with the necessity of a sworn complaint. If the offender pleads not guilty, no further proceedings may be had until a sworn complaint authorized by the township attorney is filed with the magistrate. A warrant for arrest shall not issue for an offense charged in the appearance ticket until a sworn complaint by the township attorney is filed with the district judge or judicial officer.

A bad week, but GC still on top

By JIM BRADLEY

Garden City's American Legion team suffered the worst week of the year in dropping three of four games but still leads its division by two full games over Lincoln Park.

After losing a 5-3 decision Wednesday to Trenton, Manager Jay Scowden's squad walloped Grosse Ile 23-2 in Sunday's first game but dropped a tough 5-4 battle to Dearborn Earl Kiem in the nightcap. Then Plymouth was an inconsiderate host in routing the Garden City lads, 8-2, on Don Nalepka's two-hitter and Chris Martucci's three-run homer.

"We had such a good first half of the season (12-3 record) that all the teams are shooting for us now," Scowden said. "We didn't play this last week like we are capable of, but I know the boys will bounce back."

Garden City lost more than the ball game when Trenton edged them, 5-3. Also lost was centerfielder Duane Wozniak. The hustling flychaser collided with Tod Kleinbrook and hasn't played since.

"Wozniak is the heart of our team in hustle and determination," praised Scowden. "When he was forced out of our line-up, it left a big gap."

Hard-throwing southpaw Bob Hudson was rapped for four hits in the first Trenton inning and walked two others to seal his own doom.

Highlight of the loss for Garden City was the hurling of reliever Mark Sutherland who toiled six and two-thirds innings and allowed just one single the rest of the way. An unusual feature of the game saw the Trenton centerfielder catch 12 flyballs, three against qhe left-centerfield fence.

One drive he didn't get, however, was Dan Haggard's estimated 465-foot drive which landed beyond the tennis courts in deep center. "It was one of the longest homers I've ever seen," said Scowden, who has played professional ball.

GARDEN CITY — EARL KIEM

Sutherland turned in another sparkling fireman's job Sunday as he put out the fire in the third after the visitors' took a 6-0 lead but his mates fell a run short in trying to salvage the game.

Greg Emery doubled home Jim Zoccoli and Bob Hudson in the fourth to pull the hosts within 6-3 and Wally Krol's 5th inning triple scored Kleinbrook and he later tallied to wind it up, 6-5. GC loaded the bases in the sixth with none out, but a double play erased the lead runner and the next man skied out to douse that threat.

GARDEN CITY — GROSSE ILE

In this 23-2 laugher, Garden City romped to an 11-run third inning and rode the three-for-six hitting of Jim Zoccoli and his eight RBIs to crush the downriver aggregation. Catcher Zoccoli, now hitting .333, was joined by his free-swinging mates Wally Krol (.389) and Wozniak (.342) in the slaughter.

Double loss jolts Snyder's

In a battle of division leaders in the Major Metro Travel League (when the night started, that is), Snyder's Softball Club of Redford dropped a doubleheader to Uniroyal of East Detroit last week, 12-10 and 18-13.

As a result of the double dip, Snyder's surrendered first place in the West Division to arch rival Little Caesars of Southgate. The two clubs, as usual, have been trading the lead all season. Uniroyal, meanwhile, heads the East Division by a comfortable margin.

About the only bright spot for Snyder's was third basemen Doug Gerdes who homered and knocked in three runs in each game to raise his league-leading RBI total to 89.

Uniroyal led all the way in the first game, then wiped out a 13-11 Snyder's lead with six runs in the bottom of the sixth of the nightcap, the first three of those on a long home run by Jim Haislip. The doubleheader, played on a neutral field in Oak Park, attracted 2,000 fans.

Earlier last week, Snyder's swept Bert's Blackhorse of Detroit, 14-11 and 13-5. Gerdes and Dave Rhodes each had a 3-run homer in the first game, while John Hinds and Jim Mitchell clouted two homers each in the second.

Oldest Tigers to be honored

Three infielders and two pitchers who are believed to be the last survivors of the the Detroit Tigers of 1912 will be honored at the club's 75th season salute at Tiger Stadium Sunday, July 27.

No survivors from teams before 1912 have been located, but there will be a special honor for Fred Carisch, a coach for Ty Cobb on the 1923 team who also played two games that year as a catcher. At 93, Carisch is older than the players from the 1912 team who range in age from 82 to 88.

The five members of the 1912 team who will be honored are Charlie Deal, third base; Ollie O'Mara, shortstop; Eddie Onslow, first base; Alex Remneas, pitcher, and Charlie Wheatley, pitcher.

Gas-electric car coming

There may be a hybrid car in your future.

It would operate electrically on short city runs and run in conventional gasoline-powered way on the highway.

The idea of dual power systems was used by diesel-electric submarines. But it's a new idea on land.

The first vehicles have been produced. The biggest problems have been limited range and unacceptably high weight.

A Troy firm, Electric Fuel Propulsion Corp., is producing an automobile which carries its own power plant in a trailer.

American Motors Corp, is producing an electric truck for the United States Postal Service. The truck is being used experimentally by the postal service in San Bernardino, Calif.

DR. LAWRENCE J. Giacoletto, who holds the patent on the electronic ignition, said a hybrid car with acceptable performance would be highly marketable if the price were at $2-per-pound.

Giacoletto began research in electric cars in the 1950s while working at the Ford Motor Co. scientific laboratories in Dearborn, before moving to Michigan State University.

He sees a medium-sized hybrid electric car as one with a curb weight, with four passengers and baggage, at 3,000 pounds. The car itself would weigh 2,250 pounds, with 1,250 in the chassis and 1,000 pounds for energy storage and energy conversion.

He sees the electric part as 650 pounds of storage batteries corresponding to 7,800 watt hours of energy. In addition the car would have a 150-pound 30-horsepower DC motor to operate for 80 miles at 20 miles an hour, 40 miles at 40 miles an hour, and 20 miles at 60 miles an hour.

THE GASOLINE part would be a 60-pound 50-horsepower high-performance gasoline engine with a 40-pound 25-horsepower DC generator, and a 12.5 gallon tank for gasoline for 412,500 watt hours of potential energy.

The generator would drive the car and recharge the batteries under favorable travel conditions. Reserved for electrical controls of hybrid operations would be another 25 pounds.

The MSU professor also noted experimental vehicles in use on the MSU campus, an electric bike designed by two professors and an electrified VW bus redesigned by an MSU student.

Cycle air rules expected soon

Motorcycles are next on the list for Environmental Protection Agency rules on air pollution. The first official signal, a "notice of proposed rule-making," is likely to be published in the Federal Register sometime soon.

EPA Chief Russell Train indicates that the new regulations, when they are made final, will hit two-stroke cycles especially hard, because they give off high hydrocarbon emissions. Manufacturers will have the option of finding ways to make the two-strokes cleaner or switching to models with four-stroke engines.

Bike companies indicate that there are difficult technological problems that must be cleared up before the new EPA rules can go into effect. Three key differences stand in the way of simply borrowing automobile antipollution concepts for motorcycles:

- Catalytic converters produce so much heat that they might burn a rider on a cycle.
- There is much less room than under a car hood for adding extra equipment.
- Solutions that sometimes lead to one or two cylinders quitting, which do not stop a car, will keep a cycle from running.

Car's oil a clue to engine health

A regular monthly analysis of a vehicle's oil can give an accurate reading of the health of its engine, transmission and differential.

Increasingly, large fleet owners such as truck lines are signing up for the regular inspections, which cost from $2 to $7.50 per analysis and can save, advocates insist, many times that amount.

"It will clearly show the first signs of excessive wear, which would mean an upcoming failure," said Robert Klug, project engineer for Caterpillar Tractor, one of the companies offering such analytical services through its dealers. "This will let you make corrections or schedule a repair."

OTHER FIRMS selling such readings include Oil International, H.C. Nutting Test Labs, Wearcheck Analysts and Faber Labs. They say that, on the average, about 30 per cent of the oil samples they analyze show that there should be some change in the vehicle's maintenance routine, and that in one of six of these instances the problem is so immediate that some repairs should be made at once.

A thorough analysis will check for fuel dilution, water, antifreeze, and give a reading on the amount of such elements as copper, iron, tin, lead, aluminum, nickel, chromium and silicone in the oil.

Jim Bald, maintenance expert at "Fleet Owner" magazine, is a staunch supporter of oil analysis. "Periodic oil sampling and analysis is an excellent way to monitor the condition of the hydraulic system," he said.

COLORS, SHAPES, AND SYMBOLS are helping to make driving safer. All are used in the new system of highway signs. By immediately recognizing and understanding the traffic messages, a driver can respond to the sign quickly and safely.

DIFFERENT COLORS help determine, the sign type. Red means STOP or NO. Green indicates directional information. Yellow is a warning or a possible hazard. Blue shows an available motorist service such as a picnic area or a telephone. Orange means construction work is ahead. Brown gives parks and recreational area information. White continues to be used for regulatory signs such as speed limits.

DIFFERENT SHAPES are helpful too. The familiar octagon is the STOP sign. A diamond is a general warning. YIELD signs are on triangles; NO PASSING signs use pennants. Circles are used for railroad crossing signs. A new "schoolhouse" shaped pentagon is being used now on school traffic signs. Rectangles are used for directional signs or traffic regulations.

DIFFERENT SYMBOLS are used more frequently to provide instant communication and understanding by all. After all, one picture is worth a thousand words. For example, a sign indicating to use caution ds farm machinery is in the area would show a person driving a tractor. A two way traffic sign would show arrows in opposite directions. Word messages may still be used underneath the pictures to make sure there is no confusioin.

BY COLOR, SHAPE, AND SYMBOL, the new signs can help drivers recognize and understand the highway message.

OBEY AND YOU'RE on your way tc a summer of safe driving!

Can a dietary shortage of VITAMIN E be related to PREMATURE AGING?

IT MAY BE SO! According to the 1971 White House Conference on Aging! Read excerpts from the report in this booklet. It's FREE at your druggist.

Everybody grows old. There's nothing science, medicine or nutrition can do about that. But, a shortage of Vitamin E in the diet can, according to certain nutritionists, bring about excess oxidation in the cells, thus hastening the aging process. You'll find the whole story in a FREE BOOKLET that reports what the 1971 White House Conference on Aging had to say about Vitamin E and how a dietary shortage of it could be related to premature aging. Look for the booklet in the clean, green and white Nutri-E All Natural Vitamin E display at...

MALL WALK CLEARANCE SALE SCHEDULED

TUESDAY SLATED FOR START OF SALE

If Tuesday seems an odd time to start a sale -then consider -what do people like to do most on weekends in the summer? Not shop, that's for sure, when the weather is sunny and the parks, gardens and weekend jaunts beckon. That's why Livonia Mall, 7 Mile and Middlebelt, decided to try an early week time for their summer closeout sale. If their customers show approval by taking advantage of the days, and the tremendous markdowns, then it could become a regular event.

Remember, this is the sale when final markdown prices are put on all spring and summer merchandise and phrases like "drastically reduced" float over the items.

To keep the children happy, and make shopping easier for Mon, the Mall Merchants Association has arranged to continue the miniature golf game, where for 50¢ you can leave the children, Dad too, to enjoy themselves while Mother gets down to the serious business of bargain hunting and saving the family's precious money.

If they tire of the golf game then it's down the other end of the Mall, by Crowleys, where a trout pond is all set up full of trout and ready for all the young and not so young Isaac Waltons. 50¢ gives you 10 minutes fishing time and in all likelihood a lively wiggling trout. Tackle and bait are provided and even a plastic bag to take your catch home. Where else could you get such a delicacy, they're great to eat, and have so much fun too!

Really avid shoppers who'd like more time away from the children can always leave them at the Cinema to watch "One of Our Dinosaurs is Missing", a delightful show for the children. The movie starts at 12:30 daily and if you get there before 1:30 admittance is only $1.25 for the young or old audience.

If you get separated while at the Mall, arrange to meet at one of the fountains. While waiting if you should observe coins on the bottom, why not add a couple to them. Make your wish and toss them in -all the coins are used to help crippled children.

If you're superstitious, why not toss a couple of coins in and make a wish. You may get something you've always yearned for -and you'll be helping others. All coins in the fountain go to the crippled childrens fund.

NEW FACES AT LIVONIA MALL

Regular shoppers at Livonia Mall are probably aware of the many changes there, but if your habit is perhaps to run into one of the major department stores and out again, you've really missed some changes.

On the outside, next to crowleys and in place of the old supermarket, first to arrive was United Sporting Goods, a complete sporting goods store that originated in California. While Dad is browsing through their many aisles, mother can go next door to JoAnne Fabrics and select her back-to-school sewing from the wealth of yard goods of all colors and fabrics.

Inside the Mall, near Sears, is Glasscraft. A small kiosk in size, but jammed with oddles of handcrafted glass objects.

In the Crowley Court, near Cunninghams, the newest business is Treasures of Asia. While waiting for their new store fixtures, they are displaying a variety of the stock they will be carrying from brassware and furniture, to clothes and jewelry imported from all over the world, specially noteworthy is their new turquoise and silver boutique. The originally designed jewelry is crafted by Mark Spoutz of Las Platerous Company. His work features natural heavy sterling silver. He will custom design on special order.

The beautiful greenery on sale is the offering of Fantastic Gardens to the shoppers at Livonia Mall. They pledge to bring you the best and finest in indoor plant materials.

Perhaps it also missed your eye, but the barbershop has been completely renovated and is under the new ownership of Eugene Popescu.

Not to be outdone by the new arrivals, all the existing stores in the Mall are up-to-date in the latest merchandise and decor. It really doesn't pay to stay away too long -you may miss something you've always wanted.

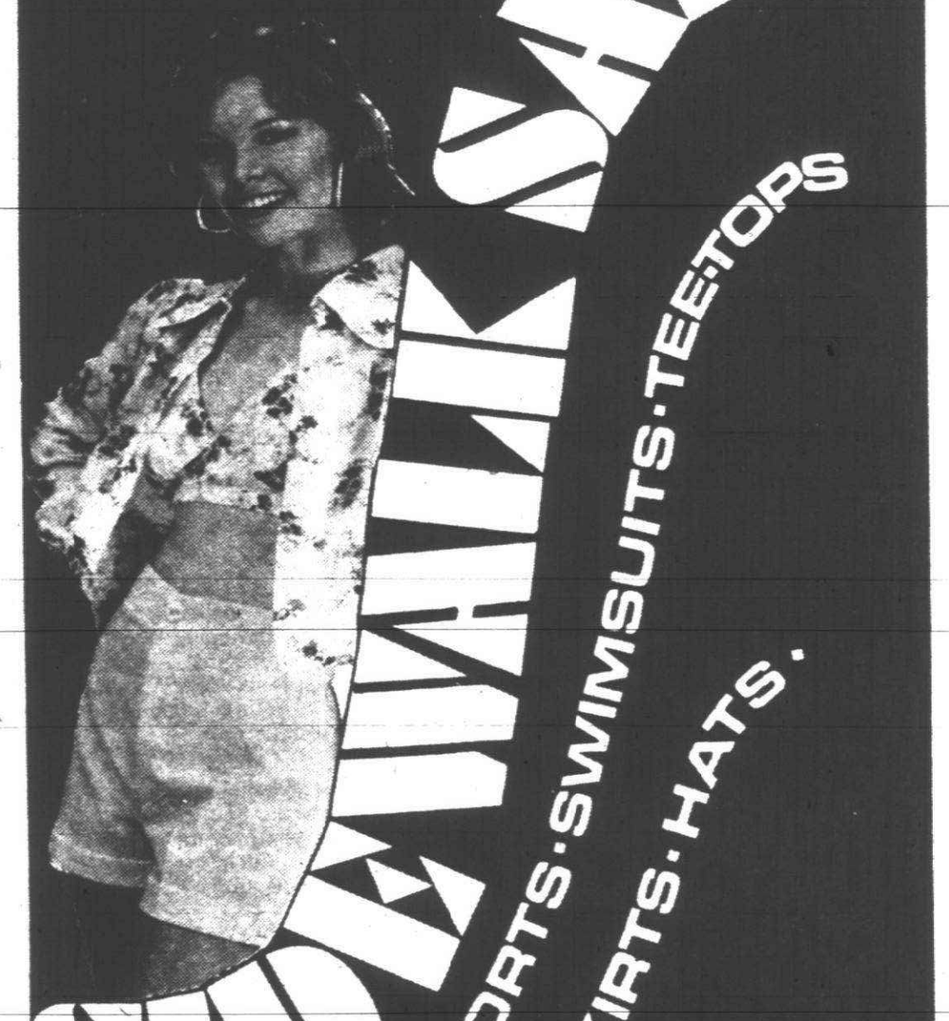

If you're near Sears fountain then you;ll have a chance to watch a fascinating machine in action. During the week of the sale you will be able to order clear plastic drinking glass personalized for your party, wedding or other social occasion and watch them, or someone elses, being imprinted right before your eyes, while you wait.

Make a point of being at the Mall during the sale -you'll be glad you did.

"He's pushing us to Livonia Mall first. They have a big Mall Walk Clearance going on!"
